EXAMPLE

This Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in shares of this Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds.

The Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The Example also assumes that you reinvest all dividends and distributions, that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on the assumptions, your costs would be:

	One Year	Three Years	Five Years	Ten Years
Investor	$153	$474	$818	$1,791
Institutional	$115	$359	$622	$1,375

Portfolio Turnover

The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities, or "turns over" its portfolio. A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in Annual Fund Operating Expenses or in the Example, affect the Fund's performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund's portfolio turnover rate was 2% of the average value of its portfolio.

Principal Investment Strategy

Under normal circumstances, the Fund invests primarily in U.S. securities, but may also invest in foreign companies traded in the U.S. on a national securities exchange or national securities association, including American Depositary Receipts, and foreign companies traded on a foreign exchange. Investments will consist primarily of common stocks, but may include preferred stocks, warrants, options, equity-like instruments and debt instruments. The Portfolio Managers invest in the stocks of companies of any size without regard to market capitalization.

The Portfolio Managers implement the Fund's strategy by focusing on companies whose valuations in the market are modest, that earn higher than average economic returns, are well managed and have ample opportunity to reinvest excess profits at above average rates. Once a potential investment is identified, the Portfolio Managers attempt to purchase shares at a price they believe represents a discount to a conservative estimate of the company's intrinsic value.

The Fund may from time to time hold a significant portion of its portfolio in cash or cash equivalent instruments. If market conditions reduce the availability of securities with acceptable valuations, the Fund may, for extended periods, hold larger than usual cash reserves until securities with acceptable valuations become available.

Principal Risks

As with any security, there are market and investment risks associated with your investment in the Fund. The value of your investment will fluctuate over time and it is possible to lose money. The principal risks of investing in the Fund include the following:

Market and Equity Investments Risk: The market value of a security may move up or down, and these fluctuations may cause a security to be worth more or less than the price originally paid for it. Market risk may affect a single company, an industry, a sector of the economy or the market as a whole. The value of equity securities will fluctuate due to many factors, including the past and predicted earnings of the issuer, the quality of the issuer's management, general market conditions, forecasts for the issuer's industry and the value of the issuer's assets.

Temporary Defensive Positions Risk: The Fund may, from time to time, take temporary defensive positions in response to adverse market, economic, political or other conditions. To the extent the assets of the Fund are invested in temporary defensive positions, the Fund may not achieve its investment objective. For temporary defensive purposes, the Fund may invest in cash and/or short-term obligations.

Small- and Medium-Sized Companies Risk: The Fund invests in small- and medium-sized companies, which may have more limited liquidity and greater price volatility than larger, more established companies. Small companies may have limited product lines, markets or financial resources and their management may be dependent on a limited number of key individuals.

Non-Diversification Risk: Because the Fund is non-diversified (meaning that compared to diversified mutual funds, the Fund may invest a greater percentage of its assets in a more limited number of issuers), the Fund's shares may be more susceptible to adverse changes in the value of a particular security than would be the shares of a diversified mutual fund. Thus, the Fund may be more volatile because each stock in which it invests could have greater impact on the Fund's performance.

Foreign Securities Risk: The Fund may invest in the securities of foreign issuers listed on foreign exchanges, as well as foreign issuers listed on U.S. stock exchanges or associations through American Depositary Receipts, which are U.S. dollar-denominated securities of foreign issuers. There are specific risks associated with investing in the securities of foreign companies not typically associated with investing in domestic companies. Risks include fluctuations in the exchange rates of foreign currencies, which may affect the U.S. Dollar value of a security, and the possibility of substantial price volatility as a result of political and economic instability in the foreign country.

Performance Information

The following performance information provides some indication of the risks of investing in the Fund by showing changes in its performance from year to year and how the Fund's average annual returns for 1, 5, and 10 years compare with those of an index that reflects a broad measure of market performance, the Russell 3000® Index, as well as an additional index that reflects the types of securities in which the Fund invests, the Russell MidCap® Growth Index. For additional information on these indices, please see "Descriptions of Indices" on page 60 of the Prospectus. The Fund is the successor to the FBR Focus Fund (the "Predecessor Focus Fund"). The performance information provided for the periods on or prior to October 26, 2012, is historical information for the Predecessor Focus Fund, which had the same investment objective and substantially similar investment strategy as the Fund. The Fund's past performance (before and after taxes) is not necessarily an indication of future performance. Prior to January 1, 2008, the Fund operated pursuant to a different investment strategy. Performance may be higher or lower in the future. Updated performance information is available on the Hennessy Funds' website (hennessyfunds.com).

Actual after-tax returns depend on an investor's tax situation and may differ from those shown, and the after-tax returns shown are not relevant to investors who hold their Fund shares through tax-deferred arrangements, such as 401(k) plans or individual retirement accounts. After-tax returns are shown for Investor Class shares only and after-tax returns for Institutional Class shares will vary.

Payments to Broker-Dealers and Other Financial Intermediaries

If you purchase Fund shares through a broker-dealer or other financial intermediary (such as a bank), the Fund and its related companies may pay the intermediary for performing shareholder services or distribution-related services for the Fund. Ask your financial adviser or visit your financial intermediary's website for more information.
